The Synod and Synodality: What does it mean for the Church?

Wednesday, March 12 | 7 p.m. EST

Zoom

Many are confused by the process of synodality and what it means to participate in a synod. Join us as we invite three scholars and contributors to explain and answer questions related to the work of Pope Francis on the synod.

Speakers

Jean Musto Hawley

Jean Musto Hawley is a director of religious education in Hampton, VA, and an adjunct faculty member at Saint Leo University. She also is a doctoral student in applied theology at the university. Her research and passion lie in pneumatology, synodality, intergenerational connections, and co-responsibility of lay leadership in the Church.

Dr. Patricia Clement

Dr. Patricia Clement is the co-founder of The Pentecost Vigil Project, an organization created to follow the historic development of the synod on synodality and to create practical synodal resources for American parishes. She is a Master Catechist and has spent over 35 years training Catechetical Leaders throughout the United States.

Dr. Amanda C. Osheim

Dr. Amanda C. Osheim is an endowed professor of the Breitbart Catholic Thinkers and Leaders Program and professor of practical theology at Loras College in Dubuque, IA. Her publications include A Ministry of Discernment: The Bishop and the Sense of the Faithful and "Stepping Towards a Synodal Church." Her current research is on synodality and how Catholic communities may more fully imitate Christ's kenotic vulnerability.
